Days of Activism Against torture and Ill-treatment Campaign

The 10th of December marks the International Human Rights Day and the World Organisation Against Torture (OMCT) celebrates today the end of its Campaign "10 Days of Activism Against Torture and Ill-treatment".

From the 1st to the 10th of December 2014, OMCT organised, for the third consecutive year, its Campaign "10 Days of Activism Against Torture and Ill-treatment" aiming at mobilizing and alerting public opinion around the world to the fact that torture and ill-treatment are a negation of basic principles of human rights and human dignity and that public support is fundamental to put an end to that scourge.

Through 10 powerful videos, 10 human rights defenders spoke out against torture and discussed the importance of the UN Convention against Torture and its implementation in their respective countries. OMCT would like to thank them for their valuable participation and inspiration in this Campaign, they made it a great success!

The Campaign also shed light on the essential role of human rights defenders, including those members of the OMCT's Network, in the struggle against torture. Human rights defenders are the voice of those who are deprived of it: the victims of torture, ill-treatment, arbitrary detention, summary execution, or forced disappearance.
