

EXPERTS

Judith A. Oder is a lawyer in the Africa Programme at INTERIGHTS (The International Centre for the Legal Protection of Human Rights). She provides legal advice and assistance on international and comparative law to lawyers and victims in domestic human rights cases. She also undertakes strategic litigation before the African Commission on Human and Peoples' rights and carries out training to build the capacity of lawyers and judicial officers to use international instruments in their work. Judith is involved in legal advocacy initiatives to strengthen African regional human rights mechanisms. Judith graduated in Law from Makerere University, Kampala and is admitted to the Ugandan bar. She holds a Masters in International Human Rights Law from the Raoul Wallenberg Institute of Human Rights and Humanitarian Law, Sweden. Before joining INTERIGHTS in 2004, Judith worked at the Institute for Human Rights and Development in Africa, the Gambia.

Panayotis Voyatzis is a Legal Officer at the European Court of Human Rights. He holds degrees from the University of Athens Law School and Paris I (Pantheon-Sorbonne). He previously worked as an advocate in Athens for ten years, practicing mainly in the fields of civil liberties and administrative law. His doctoral thesis, which he completed in 1999, is on "Freedom of speech and the European Convention of Human Rights". He is the author of numerous articles and contributions in books in the field of human rights.

Dr. Alexander H. E. Morawa is Professor of Comparative and Anglo-American Law at the University of Lucerne School of Law, Switzerland. After obtaining his first law degree, the Magister iuris, at the University of Salzburg (Austria), he completed his graduate education at the George Washington University School of Law (Washington, D.C., U.S.A.), where he obtained Master of Law (LL.M.) and Doctor of Juridical Science (S.J.D.) degrees. Professor Morawa has held faculty positions at universities in the United States and Europe and served as senior staff member with a number of non-governmental organizations prior to joining the University of Lucerne. He has also been of counsel to international organizations (including the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, the OSCE, and the UNDP) and has represented or advised individual petitioners in proceedings before international human rights tribunals. His areas of expertise include comparative constitutional law, US law, public international law/law of international organizations, international human rights protection and its mechanisms, individual rights and liberties from a comparative perspective, equality and non-discrimination, and ethnic relations/minority law.

Catherine Phuong is a Human Rights Officer in the Treaties and Council Branch at the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in Geneva. She deals mainly with individual communications sent to the Human Rights Committee and the Committee against Torture. She also deals with Concluding Observations on State reports submitted to the Human Rights Committee and the Committee on Migrant Workers. She was previously an academic (Reader in International Law) at the University of Newcastle in the United Kingdom, where she taught Public International Law, International Human Rights Law, European Union Law and French Law. She was educated at the Institut d'Études Politiques de Paris (Sciences Po), the Universities of London, Durham and Nottingham. She has published The international protection of internally displaced persons (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2005). Other publications include numerous book chapters and journal articles. She has been a visiting lecturer at the University of Lyon, the Independent University of Lisbon, and a visiting research scholar at the University of Michigan. She has acted as a consultant for the International Council for Human Rights Policy and the Swiss Ministry of Foreign Affairs. She has given many papers on international refugee law and European asylum law at various international conferences.

Diego Rodríguez-Pinzón (J.D., LL.M., S.J.D.) is Professorial Lecturer in Residence and Co-Director of the Academy on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law at American University, Washington College of Law. He teaches courses in the fields of international law and human rights law. His most recent books are The Prohibition of Torture and Ill-treatment in the Inter-American Human Rights System (with Claudia Martin) (2006), published in three languages –English, Spanish and Portuguese–, and Derecho Internacional de los Derechos Humanos (International Human Rights Law), (co-editor), (2004). He co-authored (with Claudio Grossman, Robert K. Goldman and Claudia Martin) the casebook The International Dimension of Human Rights: A Guide for Application in Domestic Law published by the Inter-American Development Bank (IADB 2001). He is also co-author of the human rights casebook bestseller, La Dimensión Internacional de los Derechos Humanos, Guía para la Aplicación de Normas Internacionales en el Derecho Interno (with Claudia Martin and Tomas Ojea Quintana) (IADB, 1999), as well as the Repertorio de Jurisprudencia del Sistema Interamericano de Derechos Humanos, La Corte Interamericana de Derechos Humanos (Inter-American Human Rights Digest)(with Claudio Grossman, Robert Goldman and Claudia Martin) (Vol. I and Vol. II, 1998). His recent articles include The International Human Rights Status of Elderly Rights (2003), The 'Victim' Requirement, The Fourth Instance Formula and the Notion of 'Person' in the Individual Complaint Procedure of the Inter-American Human Rights System (2001); and Presumption of Veracity, Nonappearance, and Default in the Individual Complaint Procedure of the Inter-American System on Human Rights (1998).

He was recently appointed Ad Hoc Judge to sit in the Inter-American Court on Human Rights of the Organization of American States. As correspondent for the British periodical Butterworths Human Rights Cases, Professor Rodríguez-Pinzón covers the Americas; he also reports on the inter-American system for the Netherlands Human Rights Quarterly. He has served as international legal consultant for the Inter-American Development Bank (IADB) and the Organization of American States (OAS), among other institutions. He was also staff attorney at the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights of the OAS and Officer for Latin America at the International Human Rights Law Group, a Washington DC based non-governmental organization. He was legal advisor for the Office of the President of Colombia focused on the economic strategy of the peace negotiations with guerrilla groups from 1989 to 1991.